Parents as Career Partners

What is Parents as Career Partners?

Parents as Career Partners is a workshop that will give you:

- vital information and a range of proven activities to help you become career allies with your children
- the skills to help your children think about and plan their future careers.

The workshops are run by trained staff from the Employment Directions Network.

Parents as Career Partners is a workshop that will help you become career allies with your children and help them plan their future careers.

Who can access PACP?

- Parents and caregivers—with or without your children
- Teachers—with or without your students

What does the PACP workshop offer?

The workshop is flexible in length and covers a wide range of interesting and useful information. Find out:

- how the world of work has changed
- where the real opportunities for your child are
- where to go for the right information
- what your child needs to do to achieve his or her career goals.

The workshop is customised to meet your needs and those of the other parents and caregivers in your group.

Simply discuss what you would like from the workshop with Employment Directions Network officers.

Employment Directions Network
